Share Speaking Program

Fire prevention talks were given by Secretary K. W. Wetzel, Columbus, of the Fire Prevention Association of Ohio and Fire Chief T. J. McFarland of the weekly business meeting of Marion Rotary Club Monday at Harding Hotel.

In the absence of President Charles B. King, today's meeting was in charge of Vice President Jesse H. Mason who brought before the club a telegram asking for Florida relief.

Charles Turner and James Llewellyn, in charge of the program, introduced the speakers and members of the Marion Rotary Club, who furnished music.

Guests were A. J. Berry and T. J. McFarland.

McFarland and Wetzel, who are both fire chiefs, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on fire prevention. They pointed out the many dangers that are hidden in the home and the importance of fire insurance.

Wetzel also gave a talk on fire prevention in the home and the importance of fire insurance.

More firemen are being called upon to fight fires than ever before. It is important that every citizen should know how to prevent fires.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little of the "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it not troubles and fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Advt.

At left, Bernice Morris. At right above, Miss Emma Shaffer.

Three of the leading witnesses in the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Aimee McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, to decide whether she and others are to be tried on charges of conspiracy to kidnap Justice Bernice Morris, Miss Emma Shaffer and Joseph Watts. Miss Morris claims that Mrs. McPherson "framed" the plot to produce fake kidnappers to substantiate her story that she was abducted. Watts, it is alleged by the state's attorney, was to portray the role of "Steve," one of the supposed kidnappers. Miss Shaffer, secretary to Mrs. McPherson, is loyal to her leader and an important defense witness.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

a half are found on a large tree at his home. The fireman is George Haines, 523 Main-st., who claims the ownership of a prize apple tree but fails to name the fruit.

Mrs. Haines does not know the technical name but she does know that there are "good cooking apples."

The prize tree stands in the yard at the Haines' home, laden with the large yellow apples, attracting the attention of many passers-by.

Mr. McPeck had an exhibition today six potatoes, each weighing about a pound and a half. Many others of this size may be found in his garden, he says.

Mr. McPeck dug a bushel of the potatoes yesterday with his hands. No tools were necessary in the digging process due to the softness of the ground.

When McPeck moved to the farm five years ago, the ground consisted of hard clay. A saw mill was put into use near the land and sawdust was sprinkled about, acting as a substitute for fertilizer.

The soil now is soft and rich and crops of every nature are prospering, the farmer states.

NEW YORK BALL FANS ON TRAINS THROUGH CITY

Big Four Trains Through Marion Carry Extra Coaches Bound for St. Louis

Big Four trains to St. Louis through Marion yesterday and today were filled to capacity with baseball fans on the journey to St. Louis to the World Series games in that city.

All regular trains are equipped with a group of extra coaches and all extras are occupied when the trains pass through this city from eastern points.

The crack Big Four passenger train, the Southwestern Limited making the direct run from New York to St. Louis, is operating 16 extra sections to handle the large crowds. Many extra Pullmans have been attached and practically all space is taken when the extras are placed in operation.

A few Marion residents have boarded the train to St. Louis during the last few days, according to local officials.

Yesterday the Yankees made use of the first section of the Southwestern Limited while Judge Landis, the umpire and a host of sport writers occupied a portion of the second section. Few persons were on the scene when the Yanks arrived.

May Return
It is probable that the Yanks will make the return trip over the Big Four through Marion Friday, following the close of the St. Louis series of games. The time of their arrival in this city is not yet known but will be announced within the next few days.

Eastbound trains will also carry many sport fans back to their homes Thursday and Friday.

Heavy passenger traffic is expected all week, going and coming, with the Big Four lines passing through this city handling many of the St. Louis visitors.

The Erie Railroad today delivered a coach to the Hooking Valley here to be taken to Ohio State University in preparation for the "better ball" special of the Erie, which is to be put into operation within a few weeks.

The special consists of a traveling cattle exhibit, sponsored by the Agricultural Department of the Erie Railroad, and will start from Marion about Oct. 21. It will make showings at nearly all villages and towns between Marion and Ohio City.

T. M. Palmer, agriculture agent of the Erie Railroad, was in Marion recently in conference with local officials in reference to the project.

Start Work at Once
Work of equipping the coach sent to Columbus today will begin immediately at Ohio State University and as soon as the special is prepared, the trip will get under way.

In addition, arrangements have been made to have a daily showing of moving pictures which will have connection with the exhibition. Lectures on agriculture and breeding matters will be given.

Many Marion Boys Take Part in Annual Cane Rush at Ohio State University

BY MARION CHENOWETH

Columbus, Oct. 3.—Many Marion young men, students at Ohio State University, took active parts in the inauguration of freshman activities for the coming college quarter at the university, Friday afternoon and night.

The annual cane rush was the first event of ceremonies. At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon the freshmen made a valiant effort to gain possession of the cane from their upper classmen, the sophomores.

Friday night, after losing to the older students in the cane rush, the freshmen trooped over the Ohio State campus in the traditional pajama parade and headed to their own enjoyment and to the amusement of the upper classmen.

Nearly 1,700 students fought in the somewhat violent imbroglio for the possession of the cane. Of this number only 150 were sophomores and the remainder included members of the first year class.

Sophomores Win
The second year students won the yearly event even though outnumbered about 10 to 1. The decision was given to the upper classmen by the referee after a dispute resulted from the appearance of two canes in the fight.

The fight lasted 10 minutes and at the end of that time a cane was dangling from each goal post—with each class claiming the victory. The referee declared that the official cane of the rush was placed on the goal guarded by the freshmen.

The battle was witnessed by more than 4,000 persons and was held on the field west of Ohio Stadium.

The small but confident group of sophomores was the first to appear on the battleground. Tugged in time honored and antiquated raiment, they clustered in conference around the northern goal post which they were to defend.

The University "greenhorns" arrived on the field a short time later with countenances resembling Indians of frontier days, having just before undergone an application of rouge to identify them from the upper classmen.

Battle Starts
After a few seconds of hastily made plans of attack and defense the two temporary enemies advanced at the sound of the whistle—the freshmen with a determined vow to get possession of the cane and the defenders with an equal determination to save the trophy for the glory of the class of 1935.

The supposedly official cane of the encounter was sighted by the freshmen in the possession of a Sophomore in the center of that respective group. The

FLORIDA BOY SCOUT SAVES GIRL BITTEN BY POISON SNAKE

Harold Falconnier

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 3.—Six months' experience as a Boy Scout gave Harold Falconnier the knowledge he needed, which, combined with his prompt action, enabled him to save the life of a young neighbor girl.

Harold, 12, and all that that means, was busy about his home, in a suburb of this city when he heard a scream. He hurried out and saw the little girl run crying toward her home. He ran to her and she showed him too odd marks on her bare heel. Snake bites, he decided instantly. But the child's parents were sure it was nothing as serious as that.

However, when the foot began to grow black and swollen, they were genuinely alarmed. Harold whipped out his handkerchief, made a tourniquet of it and bound the foot, above the swelling, as tightly as he could. Then he ran for a doctor.

Two snake fangs and sufficient poison to kill a full grown man were taken out by a surgeon, who was positive his little patient would have died without Harold's prompt first aid.

Judge Simpson promptly congratulated the arresting patrolman on his bravery and suspended sentence.

J. W. Jacoby, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, will discuss "Loan Values" in his address before the "billion dollar convention" of the Ohio Building Association League, to be held in Columbus, Oct. 19, 20 and 21.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will make one of his few Ohio appearances at the convention, being scheduled to speak at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, Oct. 21.

Congressman Nicholas D. Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives, will follow Secretary Hoover on the program, speaking at 1:30, Oct. 21. Although Cincinnati building and loan companies have given a banquet in honor of Congressman Longworth annually for the last 20 years, this is his first appearance before the state organization.

Other Speakers
A host of other speakers have been procured for the meeting of the real estate men of Ohio.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ohio Building Association League will hold its sixth annual convention in conjunction with the men's meeting.

Fifteen hundred are expected to attend the banquet to be held in connection with the coming conventions. An extensive program has been arranged for this affair, including a dance, a musical program, vaudeville acts and motion pictures.

OUT OF GOLDEN WEST COME PLANTS FOR INDIAN TONIC

Many People Relieved By Tepee, Ashtabula Resident Tells Experience.

Out of the great, golden west grows thousands of different kinds of roots, herbs and plants that are gathered by the Indian tribes and used as medicines. These are the medicines that have made the Indians among the most healthy races on earth.

You, too, can have these same roots, herbs and plants if you will obtain a bottle of Tepee Herb Tonic from your druggist. Tepee Herb Tonic is strictly an Indian preparation. Thousands have been relieved by it.

Ray Frazier is a painter who works for the New York Central Ry. at dock 11. He lives at No. 8 Ohio Ave., Ashtabula, Ohio. Of Tepee Herb Tonic he says:

"For two months I was troubled with my stomach and liver. I had sharp pains in my sides and back. I felt tired and sleepy all the time. I would get so tired while working that I would often think I would have to lay down my brush and go home and go to sleep.

"I had headaches and they would be followed by dizzy spells. I was troubled quite a little with gas on my stomach and bloating. The least food I ate would cause gas and bloating. Sometimes I didn't care if I ate or not.

"I have tried a lot of medicines but never seemed to get any better. I heard and read a lot about Tepee Herb Tonic. I went and got a bottle and felt so much better after taking it that I got six more bottles.

"I am now on my fifth bottle and I feel much better. I do not feel tired like I did. I have no more pains in my back and side.

"I have a better appetite and enjoy my meals. My bowels are regular and I do not have headaches."

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Henney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's and all drug stores; Richmond, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

YAN ON STAND GAIN TODAY N AIMEE CASE

District Attorney Relates Experiences in Probe
of Mrs. McPherson's Story

Oct. 5.—After related his story from the time he went to Mexico until he went to Carmel, where the state holds that Mrs. Mc-Pherson was a woman who was born in Oriskany, former radio oper at Angelus Temple, and again related how written grocery slips, which he claims were written in Mrs. Mc-Pherson's handwriting, were given to the grand jury only to have them subsequently destroyed by a member of that body.

Defense Attorney Gilbert and Ryan clashed on innumerable occasions as the latter told of his activities in investigating the case.

Ryan was being cross-examined by Gilbert at the close of yesterday's session and this procedure, it is thought, will be resumed this morning.

Despite Ryan's story, which indicated he had no faith at all in Mrs.
McPherson's account of her disappearance from Ocean Park last May, the woman evangelist listened to his testimony without losing any of her poise that has been manifest throughout the preliminary hearing. Her mother, too, appeared to be wearing up well during the session. She was led from the courtroom several days ago, apparently on the verge of a breakdown.

Monday in the Neil House, Columbus.

system.

RED ANTS INFEST PARIS

Paris, Oct. 5.—Millions of red ants are making life miserable for hundreds of thousands of Parisians who inhabit apartment houses of one whole quarter of Paris. The species is small, vicious and hard to catch. It is so unpopular, in fact, that authorities who have investigated say that he originated in America.

Just before the paper was about to a man who did not give his name

BEARDSTOWN MAKES PLEA FOR CLOTHING, BLANKETS

Five Hundred Homeless Face
Cold; River Again Starts
To Climb

Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 5.—Send clothing and blankets! was the plea from flood-stricken Beardstown today as the swollen Illinois River continued its invasion of the city.

Five hundred homeless face inadequate warmth if cooler weather comes and relief organizations today will start collecting stores from the bounty of all Illinois.

The river, which late last night appeared to have been at a stand, again started to climb today and waters approaching the city from the rear were only 50 feet from the flood marching through the city from the river.

Meanwhile, an estimate places the property loss at well over the half million dollar mark and still mounting.
Flames are raged, merchants' stock of goods are damaged or ruined and the estimate also includes damage to streets and sewers.

Ottawa, Ont., plans to stage a cru-dal of winter sports next January.

Salvatore M. Pina, business manager life to the mysterious informant, as his office was near the spot where the grenade was hidden.

MARY BAKER THINKING OF MATRIMONY AGAIN

This Time It Is Bejndar Pourtich Who Is Seeking
Her Hand

Belgrade, Oct. 5.—Mary Baker, the bashful bride of Chicago, who has been engaged and disengaged at least several times, today is reported to be contemplating matrimony again.

This time, Bejndar Pourtich, who for three years has been contending with Lord Carmarthen for the hand of the American girl, appears to be the lucky man. Pourtich fell in love with Mary in 1923, when he was attached to the Serbia consulate in Chicago.

The report was given considerable credence when Miss Baker arrived today, and the official announcement was expected momentarily.

Mary gained fame for her sudden engagements and their equally sudden endings in connection with young Alister McGonick, heir to the harvesters millions. She kept him in a state of nervous perplexity for years and although they almost reached the altar a number of times, Miss Baker always changed her mind at the last moment.

Misplaced Sympathy.

"Man He'll in Jail Following Triple Wreck" was the headline in Monday's Star over a story telling how three automobiles had been run into by a fourth, threatening life loss to many and causing injury to three occupants of one of the wrecked cars.

"Eight Escape Serious Injury in Collision" was another headline in the same issue over a story telling how two automobiles had come together on the Prospect road seven miles south of this city while they were moving at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour.

Another story for Monday's issue was headed "Traffic Toll 100 for Year in Hamilton County," which told the story, save that it didn't state that the year has almost three months yet to go.

"Traffic Pays Cost," was the line over a Clevelander story stating that from thirty to forty motorists daily paid fines during the first week of the operation of a new traffic signal system for failure to observe the rules laid down. The majority of the offenders pleading guilty to law violation. This also was a story printed in our Monday issue.

"Marion Persons Hurt in Wreck Recovering," appeared on another page of the Star, Monday—a follow-up story on an automobile accident a little over a week ago, in which three Marion people were injured near Westerville—and on the same page another read: "Mrs. Ray C. Randall Hurt in Automobile Accident."

"Marion Man Fined Three Dollars for Ignoring Signal" read a headline in the same issue, a story which could be repeated a hundred times a day were each offender apprehended. "Taken Home" was the heading over the story of the removal of a victim of another automobile accident from the local hospital to Bucyrus run Monday in our news columns. Another item stated that the victim of still another motor accident was improving.

"Marion Persons Figure in Automobile Crash" was the story of an accident in which the automobile in which four Marion people were driving was hit in Findlay.

"Ohio Senator and Wife Recovering from Injuries." Thus read a heading over an Elvira item of an auto accident near that place, and the story of a local little girl run down an accident to which she contributed, carried the headline, "Child Badly Hurt by Unidentified Motorist."

There was another automobile story about four cars being stolen over the week-end, but we will not count it.

It's a great life—this we are living in the "Auto Age." Twelve stories relating to automobile accidents or violation of traffic laws in one issue of a paper, and it wasn't up to the average Monday reports of automobile news at that. Twelve automobile stories in one issue due in large part to carelessness or indifference to traffic regulations.

We have from time to time commiserated with pedestrians over the menace of the auto to them. We are beginning to lean to the view that our sympathy has been misplaced; that it should have gone to the motorists; that they are far more in need of it.

Our Awful Fire Losses.

It would be well were all of us to pay heed to Fire Chief McFarland's "don'ts" published in Monday's Star. Had we last year observed the precautions he suggests and exercised the care he recommends we would not have suffered a large portion of last year's fire loss, which was in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. The trouble is that we do not. We observe "Fire Prevention" week, year after year, as we are observing this, and then revert to our former careless ways, at times seemingly indifferent to the menace which exacted a toll of 20,000 human lives last year and caused a property loss in excess of $550,000,000. Had this life and property loss occurred at the same time and place, the nation—yes, the world—would have been shocked by the awful horror of it, but scattered over a period of twelve months and throughout the length and breadth of the land, we read of the toll exacted by fire from day to day apparently without thought of what the sickening total is liable to be at the end of the year.

Statistics show that the loss in dwelling-house fires alone last year was in excess of $200,000,000, the causes and losses in the order of their importance being: exposure to burning buildings, $60,115,047; matches and smoking, $30,281,840; defective chimneys and flues, $22,716,208; stoves, furnaces and boilers, $21,160,363; spontaneous combustion, $17,037,151; sparks on roofs, $15,052,140; electricity, $11,579,757; lightning, $11,880,516; hot ashes, coals and open fires, $6,146,204; and open lights, $1,282,610.

Experts agree that six of the preceding causes are what are called preventable and the other four partly preventable. By that is meant, that safeguards may be taken against six of them and partial safeguards against the other four.

As we have previously said, we observe "Fire Prevention" week, year after year, and then seemingly forget about it. At least, we seemingly forget to observe the precautions and safeguards we have been urged to observe and erect during "Fire Prevention" week. The proof of this is that, despite all the publicity the week receives yearly, despite all the effort made to arouse the understanding of the public to this awful menace to life and property, the loss continues to mount year by year. Of the ten causes of dwelling-house fires tabulated, eight resulted in heavier losses in 1925 than the year before. By way of illustration, losses by matches and smoking rose from $29,281,840 in 1924 to $30,281,840 in 1925 and losses from spontaneous combustion from $16,110,915 in 1924 to the figure previously quoted, $17,037,151, the past year.

It is well that we have "Fire Prevention" week, for there is no telling what the life and property loss might be did we not observe it annually, but it would be better were every week in the year a fire prevention week with us in so far as the observation of its teachings go. And even then, such is human nature, the fire menace would not be removed.

As a matter of fact we never expect to see it entirely removed, but we do anticipate the coming of a time, even though we of today may not live to see it, when the menace of fire will be greatly reduced. We refer to a time when we will use less combustible materials, when practically all of them will be fire-resisting. But we do not anticipate that this condition will come so much as the result of a desire to build fire-resisting dwellings as we now build fire-resisting business blocks and office buildings as of the ever-advancing price of timber. Whenever timber reaches a price where it is more expensive than other forms of building material, we will naturally rely more on the other forms, just as we are doing more and more daily, and almost all these substitutes for timber being utilized have fire-resisting qualities not possessed by timber not given the so-called fire-proofing process. When this condition is reached in the building world, then, the fire losses will begin to fall. Experience has taught us that the probability that they will fall before that time is indeed slight.

From our news columns we glean that seven men were arrested for intoxication Saturday and Sunday. Actually, conditions are becoming a bit like the "Good Old Times" when drunkenness was so common it wasn't considered "news."

It can hardly be said that the announcement that the obstructionists up in Wisconsin are fighting among themselves carries any element of surprise. We anticipated as much when it became manifest that an endeavor was being made to restrict the wearing of the La Follette mantle to members of the La Follette family.

It's hardly the square thing for the Cincinnati Enquirer to remark that "if Secretary Andrew Mellon is in as cheerful state of mind as reported it can be taken for granted that Senator Coughens, of Michigan, is feeling almost as gloomy as Dean Inge." It might lead one unacquainted with the situation to assume that the secretary is interested in the senator's frame of mind.

While the feeling of humanity is strong in all of us and no doubt Californians sympathize deeply with stricken Florida, it's hardly probable that they will permit that feeling of humanity to be so broad-reaching as to overcome their business instinct to raise their hotel rates to meet the situation caused by the great hurricane.

We are at times inclined to feel that there may be something in the view of the allies that we are foolish enough to forgive them what they owe us. As we look back over the war and its aftermath and consider the lack of appreciation shown by them for what we did for them, we admit it does look as though we were foolish in blowing in $30,000,000,000 to keep them from getting beaten to a frazzle.

A Los Angeles story says William Gibbs McAdoo is engaged in one of the stormiest fights of his career in an effort to rebuild his political prestige in California and pave the way again to assume the leadership of the wing of the Democratic party and head off the presidential aspirations of Governor Al Smith. It's little wonder that the Democratic donkey so seldom wins out, considering the inside-party jockeying it is forced to suffer.

THE WET NURSES

Watch Baby's Face To Find Ills.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

You can learn just as much from the expression of the face of a young baby as you can from that of an adult. Indeed, it is probable that facial expression means more in a baby than it does in a grown-up person. Adults learn to hide their feelings, but little babies have not yet achieved this power.

Young mothers have much to learn. One of the things they must acquire is the significance of the expression of the baby's face.

Of course a very young baby is likely to have a very placid face. If anything is expressed at all it is a quizzical look of surprise which seems to be characteristic of the infant. But even in early infancy there may be an appearance of distress in the face at the beginning of a serious illness.

Any prostrating disease, like severe diarrhea or protracted vomiting, will have its effect upon the face. The cheeks seem sunken. The skin looks drawn and shrunken. The eyes stand out. There are deep lines entirely unnatural to the face of a child.

There is an uncomfortable condition known as "marasmus." In this there is a gradual fading or wasting away of the tissues. The child becomes very, very thin. The face is pale or sallow in color. The skin is wrinkled and the face of the infant looks like that of an old person.

Any digestive disturbance is likely to cause a shrunken and shrunken condition of the skin.

Among the most common of the ailments babies have are disturbances of the breathing organs. Colds and mild influenzas, which mean little to grown people, are very serious things when they attack babies. If there is obstruction of the breathing it is a common thing to have the edges of the nostrils, more in and out with the breathing. You have seen a rabbit's nose, how it wiggles back and forth. This symptom is noted if a child has difficulty in breathing.

You mustn't be misled by the smile of an infant. What may appear to you as a smile may in reality be an expression of pain. Indigestion, particularly, may cause the smile to appear.

A healthy infant keeps its features, in perfect repose when asleep. If there is a chewing movement of the jaws this may be considered as a sign of an upset stomach or some form of indigestion.

It is not uncommon for a baby having pain of some sort, or any disturbance accompanied by great physical exhaustion, to show it in the eyes. Some babies always sleep with their eyes half open, but if your baby has always slept with closed eyes, it helps with the eyes half open it is probably because of some digestive disturbance or some other ailment.

Study the features and expression of your little baby, and you will learn how it appears in health. When the facial lines are changed or the usual expression altered, it is probable something is disturbing the well-being of the infant.

Be careful what you do not believe. For 4,000 years the likeness of a "dragon" has been painted on the flag of China. You have laughed at such pictures and scoffed at dragons. There arrived at New York the other day two giant lizards eight feet long, with red forked tongues. They made a noise like the hiss of escaping steam. Their tails are spiked. They were captured alive in the Malay archipelago. Be careful what you do not believe. You see there are dragons after all. Perhaps, there are little people who live in the grass, whom children call fairies. Who knows?

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

There's one kind of a joke that makes everybody feel good, I've found out, and that the joke on a fellow that is supposed to be tight with his dough. It used to be the style to tell these jokes on the Jews altogether, but when the jokesters found out that the Jews were just tickled pink every time anybody told about how thrifty they are, the Jews started spreading the joke around a little and the Scotchmen came in for their share of jokes about saving money. Have you ever seen the Scotchman growl whenever one of them stories is told on the Scotch? Well, it's natural enough, ain't it? What's a better national virtue than thrift? I'd like to know? So the Swedes is often accused of being thrifty, too, and this one has a Swede up in St. Paul for a hero.

Oscar and Christina was a Swede couple, a state fair, and they spent the day watching the aviator take up passengers. Whenever business got slack the aviator asked Oscar if he didn't want to take Christina up, and Oscar always said, "How much?" The flying guy lowered the price a little each time, but Oscar always shook his head and said that was too much. Finally, about sundown, the fellow made Oscar a proposition.

"You're the tightest guy in Minnesota," he said. Oscar liked that. He was half sold already. "Well, I'll tell you what, I'll take you and Christina up and if you don't say one word or make a sound while we're up, I won't charge you anything. If you holler or talk, ten dollars."

"Yah, I think we take it." Up they went, and the boy gave them all the stunts he had. He darn near run the ship into the moon, and he tail-spinned from some place up near Mars, and he turned summer-saults until he was almost out of gas. Then he came down, and he was mighty disgusted. He took off his helmet and says, without looking around:

"I guess you win, Tichtwad! Didn't hear a word out of you."

"No," says Oscar, "I tank I keep still all right. But I purty near said something that time that Christina dropped out."—Copyright, 1926.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Oct. 5.—Melancholy touches the scene in the fall. It is a prelude to winter and its hardships. Sidewalks are filled with little kindling wagons stacked high with odd scraps of fuel picked up here and there.

Cellars in some coal shops where patrons purchase the winter's supply of fuel are now open for the winter and what not have a bit until "the red, red robin comes bob, bob, bobbin' along." Old men and women must move from their doorway chairs.

Windows that droop with gossiping women are closed. The tenement—like the American enters the long night. The fight to live becomes a grim problem. Children are denied the only playground they know—the asphalt street.

The ominous and straggly breadline begins slowly to galvanize into a compact procession, for no matter the state of national prosperity—the breadline is always with us. Westward galesy is at its pitch, but in the slums it has touched bottom.

That stagnant army that lazes through summer and makes a pretense of work in winter drifts to the labor agencies in the dispirited manner of those who seek jobs but hope not to find them. And the laughter of women is stifled.

But the greatest hardship is among children. Tenement youngsters make their own amusement—chalked hop scotch games on the pavement, dancing to ragtime burdy gurdy and the like, but with cold weather they must remain in cheerless and often windowless rooms.

The fire-scapes with their tiny potted plants, balloon bedding and flapping wet wash become stark and ugly. A brooding silence seems to fill the street. The street criers' bells are stifled. No loud matters until April comes again.

The professional Southerner seems to have left Broadway flat. He fitted the days of the swing door saloon and the mint julep where strangers sat with strangers without suspicion. He had an amiable weakness for hard liquor, simulated a Dixie drawl, wore boiled shirts, shoe string ties, wide hats and talked of selling "niggahs" by the boatload down at Natchez. His job was in reality hustling for confidence men, wire tappers and all the unlovely brood that lived by their wits. He had a high-born manner that was most disarming and when he had introduced "comeons" to the natives his work was done. He was usually outside the law.

Definition of a Broadway night club: "Where stage people who think they are important are gazed upon by out-of-town folk who have no idea who they are."

It strikes me the most lugubrious job in New York is that of the usher in those funeral parlors in midtown. They wear Tuxedos and stand about in the manner of floor walkers escorting visitors to see the remains. They must at all times have a funeral expression, support swooning women and attempt gently to silence shrieks. That best seller title "All These Sad Young Men," fits them perfectly. Many are on duty at night standing dreamily in the rather brilliantly-lighted parlors in silent silhouette awaiting another wagon.

Social Activities

MRS. John D. Sage, Cincinnati, Miss Elizabeth Wottring, Prospect, and Walter Brown, Cleveland, were heard in a delightful program last night at the Community Home, S. High-st., which marked the opening of the season for members of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club. Members and friends of the club were guests.

Last night's program was a success from every viewpoint and promises a season of charming and cultural study and entertainment this season.

An interesting program is being arranged for the year, a part of which was made known by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, president of the club, in her greetings last night. Plans include a number of concert programs and possibly the study of grand opera. It also is expected that a number of Sunday afternoon concerts will be presented free to the public and the club plans to do some work among the school children.

Miss Wottring, who is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan Conservatory of Music, opened the program with Rubenstein's "Barcarolle in G." This as well as the numbers of her other group, "Valse Gracieuse," Horatio Parker and "La Chasse," Paganini-Liszt, was exquisite and proved her talent as a pianist.

Mrs. Sage, who formerly was Miss Carmen Bloch, daughter of Mrs. Taylor Blaw, Franklin-st., is always assured a warm welcome whenever she appears on a local program and her appearance last night was no exception. She delighted her audience with a group of three numbers, "Boat Song," Harriet Vidor, "At the Spinning Wheel," Louis Vidor, and "Piano Piece," Weatherly, and her closing numbers which included a group of Southern songs, "De Lawd Is Smilin' Thru," "Carpetmen," and "Bourne Island," and "Ed. J. Manning," "Struckland." Her accompaniments were played by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser.

Mrs. Brown delighted her audience with two groups of violin numbers in which her skill as an artist was portrayed in tone and technique. His first presentation was G. Tartini's "Sonata in G Minor," in three movements, followed by "Melodie," Gluck-Kreutzer and "Kujawka," H. Wieniawski. His concluding group was "Sonata in G Minor," Albert Simeoni, study in close harmony, "Meditation," Massenet and "Siciliano and Rigaudon," Franconeur-Kreutzer. Mrs. Brown's accompaniments were played by Miss Helen Meyer, a talented pianist of the club.

Following the program the members and guests enjoyed an informal social hour and refreshments, with Miss Marian McNeil, social chairman, presiding.

S. A. G. Club Members
Have Luncheon Party

Miss Lucile Schindler entertained members of the S. A. G. Club, a theater and dance group, Saturday night. The guests enjoyed the production at the Grand and later a social hour and supper at the home of Miss Schindler, Irey-av. Those present were Misses Dorothy Zieg, Hazel Grace, Thelma Barton, Virginia Hoffmeyer, Vivian Rettig, Marguerite Yocom and Ollie Schindler.

Birthdays Celebrated
at Bodman Home Sunday

A number of friends were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bodman, 270 Park-bld, Sunday in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Bodman and his mother, Mrs. Emma Bodman. The time was spent with music and games. Those present were Mrs. and Mrs. Howell Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thomas and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Schlegel, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Coy and daughter Golda Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pance and family, Miss Helen Bodman, Carl Woods and Patrick Norton.

Jewish Council Members
Hold Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Council of Jewish Women opened their season with a luncheon meeting yesterday at Hotel Harding, followed by a business meeting in the evening. Plans were made for the work to be carried out this year. Mrs. Sol Freed will entertain the members at a sewing meeting next week and plans were made for an indoor picnic at the next meeting Nov. 1.

Current Topic Club
Meets in Columbus

Members of the Current Topic Club motored to Columbus yesterday where they held their first meeting of the season with Mrs. Dewey Head, Upper Arlington, Luncheon at the Zulu Hut was followed by the program at the home of Mrs. Head. Mrs. Eugene Dickson gave an interesting talk on her tour abroad. Mrs. C. L. Rutherford accompanied at the piano by Miss Maye Evangelina Lawrence sang "Charity," McDermott and Carrie Jacobs Bond's group of half-minute songs. During a brief business meeting Mrs. Charles Turner was chosen delegate to the district convention to be held at Delaware.

Oct. 28 and 29, Mrs. Turner will preside as club president this year and Mrs. E. E. Smith will serve as recording secretary. The next club meeting will be Oct. 18 with Mrs. Turner at State-st. A number of the club members visited O'Shaughnessy Dam on the return trip home.

Mrs. E. E. Schooley entertains Sesame Club. Mrs. E. E. Schooley, president of the Sesame Club, entertained the members at the opening meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at her home, Wind-sor-st. Included in the work planned for the year was the making of Christmas kits for the soldiers. Mrs. Schooley and Mrs. Lloyd Lindsey were chosen delegates to the district convention to be held at Delaware Oct. 28 and 29.

Following the president's greetings Mrs. C. H. Lindsey gave a paper on "Selection and Conversation of Textiles." Mrs. E. A. Schultz read a paper, "The Story of Silk" and Mrs. W. B. Strayer's paper was "Silk That Is Not Silk." The club will meet Oct. 18 with Mrs. M. A. Mickle, St. James-st.

Research Club Enjoys
Delightful Program

Mrs. W. L. Stump was hostess to members of the Research Club at their first meeting of the year yesterday afternoon at her home, 315 Linden-pl. Rhem and Ruether to Start in Happy St. Louis

City Celebrates Arrival of Teams and Followers for Third Game of Series

Shift in Sentiment After Sunday's Game Makes Home Nine Favorite; Cardinals Promise To Start Hitting and Yanks Are Expected To Go to Mat

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 5.—Keyed high in the upper octaves of a civic emotionalism such as Paris knew on the night of the armistice, the banks of the big muddy were a riotous revel this morning as St. Louis awoke to greet the day of all days.

To the rest of the country, the occasion was merely the third game of the 1926 world series between the Yankees and Cardinals, but to St. Louis, it was the day on which the world began and the past became as nothing.

Rhem and Ruether Work

One fast ball specialist stopped the Yanks then; another in the person of Flint Rhem was due to attempt the same thing this afternoon. He won't have to be as good as Alexander to get away with the business for perfection seldom is a necessity. Rhem merely has to pitch one of his typical games to take the play away from the Yanks and strike the Cards to the lead in the series.

Cards Expected To Hit

St. Louis, however, has figured which club is going to do the hitting. As a matter of fact, the series figured to become longer and more uncertain as it proceeded to its natural conclusion. Neither club has been able to hit the sort of its lunch check to date and that size of thing isn't being done through an entire series.

St. Louis Jubilant

The alma-seeker stood by in mute amazement, glad of a crumb from the rich man's table. St. Louis never was so humble as that thought it starved for want of the nourishment that comes unasked to the town that harbors a pennant winner. It neither asked nor granted favors and today it had the reward that belongs to any town that has fought the good fight and that has kept the faith.

Yes, St. Louis was to have its world's series at last and the years of adversity were only a vague, unpleasant memory hardly worthy of any man's regret; in this, the big moment of the town's history.

Indeed, it was not altogether unlikely that, as the merry citizens leaped lightly from crag to crag, uttering strange piercing sounds, anyone deemed it either necessary or expedient to think of the days of the great famine when the hour of the big feast was at hand. It was doubtful, in fact, whether any normal citizen took the trouble to think at all.

Of course, they can't see how the Cards can go wrong and, in consequence, the odds were on the local club at 6 to 5, although it had gained only a stand-off in the first two games. The shift in sentiment was due not only to the fact that the Cards were back to their happy hunting ground, but also to the manner in which Alexander whipped sawed the Yanks with his fast ball at the Yankee Stadium on Sunday.

This remarkable photo shows Bob Meusel, Yankee outfielder and slugger, "hitting the dirt" to score the first run for the Yankees in the second game of the world's series. Pitcher Alexander's error in judgment in intercepting throw home on Luzzetti's single, which scored Meusel, prevented chance of putting Bob out. Alex's wild throw after that inning and not another run, the Cards winning 6 to 2.

Ohio Conference Heavy Artillery Goes Into Action Saturday; Casualties Few

Cleveland, Oct. 5.—After the usual preliminary rifle fire with the accused, the Ohio Conference swing into action this Saturday.

So far, there have been a few casualties, but none of serious import. Case, after winning his first game easily, barely escaped the Akron encounter with a tie score. Ohio Northern and Miami have black marks against them to start the season and Kenyon still is trying to get its breath back after the Dayton catastrophe.

At the Front

The big battles scheduled include the Mount Union-Oberlin clash at Alliance, and the Case-Wooster game at Cleveland. The first named affair has as its inspiration last year's successful season. That was the one blue rather than a hot on Oberlin's unbeaten team. The Mount Union football season is composed of two games and to win this year, Coach Johnny Thorpe would be willing to drop all the others. Oberlin is one and Wooster the other. And now the Congregationalists wander down to Alliance for a nice pleasant afternoon, which will shade a Mexican revolution in the matter of action.

BY PAT MURPHY

PLANS for the inter-city baseball tournament at Lincoln Park are practically complete. Four teams will play three seven-inning games. The teams in the tournament will be Marion Athletics, Elyria, Ashland and Crestline.

Manager Bacon of the Athletics has had several lines out for big league players to play with Marion in this tournament; but the fans with whom he has talked seem to be in favor of Marion presenting its regular lineup against the big leaguers.

There is a possibility that Bacon will agree to the wishes of the fans, as he is sincere in his claim that Marion has the best semi-pro team in the state. He believes that the team he has led through this season is fully capable of coping with the best that can be brought here. However, Wilbur Cooper, for so many years the manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates staff, will be in a Marion uniform. Efforts are still being made to get Nick Altrock, baseball's premier clown, to play with Marion.

Ashland Coming with Stars

Ashland will enter the tournament with Ed Wells, pitching ace of the Detroit Tigers, on the mound. In addition to Wells, the Ashlanders will bring at least four players who have been playing in fast minor leagues this year, one of them a star performer in the American Association.

Crestline will bring, among others, A. Hipp, who has been catching this year with the House of David; Cross, first baseman of the Louisville American Association team; Emmer, shortstop of the Cincinnati Nationals; Keifer, centerfielder of the Grand Rapids team of the McInt League; and Curtis, pitcher of the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association.

Elyria Enters Fast Team

The Elyria Richwines, which have played here three times this season, will be back in the tournament. They have added, among others, Bill Rose, who pitched for Grand Rapids this year. He pitched for Elyria last Sunday against the Oberlin Motors. Two men reached first base during the nine-inning game, and Rose walked both of them. Other than these two walks, Rose pitched a perfect game, striking out ten men. Another pitcher who will be brought here for the tournament will be Bartolome, the twirler who opposed Rose in this game. Chisholm, who will catch for Elyria, caught and managed Atlanta in the South Atlantic League this year.

WALKER WINS ON TECHNICAL K. O. IN LAST ROUND

Callahan Outclassed Everywhere in Honest to Goodness Fight

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mickey Walker, former welterweight champion of the world, was looking in much of his former ring today, following his impressive defeat of "Shuffle" Callahan, Chicago's reigning truck driver, in their scheduled 10-round battle here last night.

Walker's comeback was spectacular. He won the fifth round by a technical knockout after fans had seen one of the most murderous exhibitions of pugilistic assault and battery ever staged in a Illinois prize ring.

The ex-welter king had the awkward but stocky Chicago boy beaten from the top of the first going. Walker won every round. He rained high-powered rights and lefts at the luckless Callahan, but the latter kept wading in. Seattle was fighting true to his reputation of either knocking out his opponent or getting knocked out himself. Walker, in spite of his terrific jab, could not knock the Chicagoan out. He hit him on the floor twice, but each time Callahan staggered to his feet for more. At the end of the fifth round, the latter was so groggy and so thoroughly whipped that Eddie Kearn, Walker's manager, did the only thing left to do—throw in a towel.

Following the fight, Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, announced he would immediately offer a certified check for $250 to the Illinois Boxing Commission and issue a challenge to Tiger Flowers for the middleweight championship of the world.

NEW YORK MISSES BIG ARMY-NAVY GAME ALREADY

New York football fans have just begun to realize how much the loss of the annual Army-Navy game this year means to the big town. The contest will be staged in Chicago, Nov. 27.

About the best offerings New York now has in the line of football is the Army-Notre Dame, which is to be played at the Yankee Stadium, Nov. 13, and the Syracuse-Columbia game, Nov. 20.

Of course the big three games, the Cornell-Dartmouth battle at Ithaca, Syracuse-Colgate and other battles are within easy train distance. But the gala event of the season—the game with the color, pomp and display, will be staged in the west. And New York's finding it out.

SOUTHWORTH SCORING HOMER

Billy Southworth, discarded by the New York Giants and a couple of other clubs, saved up the second game of the world's series for the Cardinals by slugging out a home run in the seventh inning, scoring O'Farrell and Therman ahead of him. Photo shows Southworth scoring.

DO RULES PERMIT THIS?

George Wilson's Seattle Wildcats, getting ready for the professional season, announce they will wear trousers, stockings and jerseys of the color of a football, expecting this to confuse their opponents.

TILLMAN TRIES COMEBACK

Johnny Tillman, one of the country's greatest lightweight boxers a few years ago and later a first class welter, is trying to get in shape in Los Angeles for a comeback, but his friends aren't very optimistic.

BURNS ENDS TROUBLES

The brilliant playing of George Burns at first for the Cleveland Indians recalls the long struggle that club had after George Stovall's departure to get a dependable first sacker. The owner spent more railroad fare on first base experiments than any other department of the game—unless it was for third base coaches.

NET TANGLES

Tennis has now taken on the upsetting qualities of golf. Miss Browne beat Mrs. Mallory at Maidstone. Miss Willis beat Miss Browne at the same tournament. Later Miss Ryan beat Miss Willis. Then Mrs. Mallory won from Miss Ryan. In the championship zone of tennis reversals of this order rarely take place. Mrs. Mallory also deserves an additional sprig of laurel for again spiking that most depressing of all slogans, "They don't come back!" Professor George H. Ruth has also contributed his share to the same cause.

BOWLERS START IN NATIONALS

Midland-Mutual and Bents Entries Take Two Each

Second Game
F. D. Bents' team took the first and third games from Richmans with 90 and 29 points to the good which gave them a lead of 80 pins in the grand totals. Richmans won the second game by 30 points. High scorers were: M. A. Leffer, 190; M. A. Burnett, 191; Ruhl, 125; E. Burnett, 150; Cull, 167.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

With playing checkers, the middle of the street and one side of it was wet and fat and nice, and the other side was so dry it warped till it wouldn't hold swill. My aunt looked up when he said that and asked him: "Didn't you have sense enough to turn over?" Everybody laughed and he got red, and then he said "I'm not as big a hog as you (and then he paused along time till she began to get red) seem to think I am." "You couldn't be," she said. And then I grabbed my hat and ducked out, because I knew if I stayed there any longer I would get blamed for something and maybe get licked.

I didn't swipe any grub for Jubilee, so I went to the butcher shop and got him two wienies for a nickel out of my half and then I thought, maybe, so much meat would not be good for him or something, so I let one and a half of them myself. He seemed to think he was lucky to get the other half.

Mush asked us if we knew where he could get some nuts, and the Lost Bag of Tripe said he would show him where he could get a wagon-load after school. So Mush had an old gray plug and a wagon waiting when school let out, and the Lost Bag of Tripe took him around to a fruit store that sells nuts. A fat man looks funny when he is mad. We all skoon out. We had to.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

One day Uncle Wiggily hopped to the store to get a jug of molasses for his new cake. The muskrat housekeeper, who was going to make a molasses cake.

"I can't make a molasses cake without molasses," squeaked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, that being her way of talking.

"Wouldn't you use honey, and color it brown with sugar like molasses?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, look here!" cried the muskrat housekeeper, "you don't want to get me mixed up with honey, just say so, and I'll go myself. But I thought you liked molasses cake!"

"I don't like only teasing you," laughed Uncle Wiggily, so on he hopped to the store where he had the jug filled with molasses, sweet, sticky brown molasses.

It was when he was hopping on his way home, back to the hollow stump where that Uncle Wiggily happened to think.

"Why, I have had no adventure today! Not a single adventure! Not even a tiny smidge of one!" and a sigh was very little indeed!

The funny gentleman happened to look down the path, and there, not far away, was the animal school, where his Lady Mouse Teacher taught the boys and girls.

"I wonder if I might find an adventure there?" thought Mr. Longears. However, I think not, as school is out, he is after 4 o'clock. But I'll try."

Hopping closer to the school, Uncle Wiggily suddenly heard the Lady Mouse speaking:

"Help! Help! Oh, will some one please help me! This is so very strange it makes me afraid!"

"Ha! A chance to help Lady Mouse!" said Uncle Wiggily bravely. "This will give me an adventure!"

Into the hollow stump school he hopped as fast as he could go, and he thought he would see some bad cat, or worse, but he only saw Miss Mouse herself standing in front of the blackboard, which was near an open window.

"What is the matter, Miss Mouse?" asked the bunny.

"That is the matter," was her answer. "I stayed in today, after all the boys and girl animals had gone, to write on the blackboard some lessons for tomorrow. Very nicely I wrote in chalk, and then I turned to go out, but when I looked back, lo and behold! All my black writing was rubbed off the board!"

"Because the wind did it," said Uncle Wiggily.

"That's what I thought," said the Lady Mouse. "So I wrote the lesson again, but as soon as my back was turned, it was rubbed again, and I'm sure no one was in the room here to do it. The third time I used the chalk, and again it was rubbed out as if some bad cat was turned. Then became frightened and called for help.

"I will help you," said Uncle Wiggily. "I think some one is playing a trick on you. Now write some more with chalk and turn your back. But I will not turn my back. I will face the board and watch." And after the writing was done and the bunny was watching, lo and behold! He saw the Fuzzy Wuzzy thrust his big brush of a tail through the window and dust off all the chalk marks!

"Ah ha!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily, who was hiding behind a desk. "The mystery is solved. Now to play a trick on the fox. Come, Lady Mouse, write more on the board and turn your back." And when the teacher had turned her back, Uncle Wiggily smeared molasses from his jug around the chalk marks. And then he waited. And when the sly fox once more thrust his tail in through the window to rub off the chalk, his tail was stuck in the molasses on the blackboard.

"Ow! What's this!" howled the bad chap, pulling hard to free his tail. "I'm caught!"

"That's right! You're caught!" cried Uncle Wiggily and he and Lady Mouse pelted the fox with odds and ends of chalk until the bad chap was glad enough to pull his tail loose with a jerk and run away. Then Uncle Wiggily helped clean the blackboard and when the chalk lesson was written on again it stayed there.

So this teaches us molasses is good for something else than spreading on bread, and if the oil can doesn't slip and fall down stairs when it is trying to give the sewing machine a drink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the three sticks.

Women seem to have overcome their superstitious prejudices against green, as various shades of this color are very fashionable in Paris and London this fall.

CALL MONEY DECLINES ON NEW YORK MARKET

Movement Provides Outstanding Bullish Factor in Weeks or More

New York, Oct. 5.—Decline in call money rate to 4 1/2 per cent around noon period today provided outstanding bullish factor in stock market in week or more, and industrial speculative stock leaders responded with good price gains all along the line. In the first two hours bears were in complete control of the situation, offering stocks right and left at price concessions of 1 to 5 points from the previous close. A violent attack on southern railroad shares, high-priced motor and industrial stocks, oils and numerous specialties produced considerable confusion with hurried liquidation at rapidly declining prices. Some of the best known stocks broke through to the lowest prices on the movement, in some cases being the lowest for year to date.

Further losses of three to 7 1/2 points in such standard stocks as New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Dupont and General Motors suggested the prospect of a wide uncovering of loss orders and a freezing out of weakly margined accounts. Expansion of margin trading was evident in the further increase of $500,000 in broken loans as reported by the brokers' board, but aggregating is still $350,000,000 down from high of year, and decline in call rates to 4 1/2 per cent today was satisfactory evidence of asier position of the money market.

She was a member of the party of Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania. Dempsey denies the accusation.

BROTHER AND SISTER OBSERVE BIRTHDAYS

Departure of Girl For Sanatorium Marks Crisis in Lives of Inseparable Pair

The departure of a little fair-haired, blue-eyed, eight-year-old girl for the Mt. Vernon sanatorium for treatment of lung trouble yesterday marked a crisis and a sad one in the lives of the child and her six-year-old brother.

The children's names are Mary Ellen and Charles Asa, the daughter and son of Mrs. Lillian Loper, 877 Meadow. The children have been inseparable companions for six years, having been born on the same date two years apart, their double birthday anniversary occurring last Friday. The birthday was celebrated with a never-to-be-forgotten afternoon of the crowning event was the dainty lunch which their brave, smiling mother served their playmates and themselves. "Daddy" was the only loved one absent from the party—he having died two years ago of lung trouble which he contracted during active service in the World War.
